

A couple of American business researchers have come up with an observation that is, to me at least, wise and true — and new.

Here's the story:

A U. S. mail-order house went into Mexico on a gamble, several years ago, and when several branches had been established and the experiment was definitely successful, the National Planning Association, a private research group not connected with the mail-order house, assigned Richardson Wood and Virginia Keyser to make a case study of the venture.

What happens in a foreign country under the impact of U. S. merchandising? That's what the research group wanted to know.

Well, the investigators found that Sears Roebuck company today is buying 80 per cent of its Mexican stores' merchandise inside that country from 1,295 native firms, expanding many of them from one-man outfits to modern factories. And then comes the observation which impressed me most. As told by Sam Acheson, editorial writer of the Dallas News, it is:

"Perhaps the most important part of the impact of Sears on Mexican life has been its stimulating of the growth of the middle class. The rise of a large and prosperous middle class has been one of the great needs of our neighbor country to the south, as is the case in much of Latin America. As the authors of this case study point out, it takes more than just more money income to bring a middle class into being. It results from increasing the amount and kinds of goods, especially of durables, that may be bought, and the widening of choices among them."

In all my reading I have never before seen this statement linking wide distribution and variety of goods with the creation of a middle-class society. And yet it is obviously true. One of our American creeds is that the strength and durability of the middle class is a major bulwark of this republic, and it is a common observation that nations with no middle class — with only the very rich and the very poor — are constantly being overcome by a cycle of tyranny and revolution.

We know that a middle-class society helps keep a republic stable, but today's thought is this: that we have just discovered. It is the functioning of our manufacturing and distributing system for consumer goods which feeds that middle-class society and keeps strong that which keeps the nation strong.

Dairy Firms Want 35 New Milk Producers

The County-wide Dairy Promotion meeting held in the courtroom Thursday night, June 18, was not as well attended as was hoped for by prospective dairy farmers.

About 20 were present, however, and among them were Mr. Palmer and Mr. Clark, field representatives of the Borden Milk Company, and Mr. Watson and Mr. Stuart of the Midwest Milk Company in Texarkana. A few prospective dairymen and Chamber members were told by these two companies that they would purchase the output of about 30 to 25 additional dairies between now and October 1. Enthusiasm for the possibilities of this increased milk production was genuine among those present.

It was impressed upon the people of Hempstead county by the Borden company and the Midwest Dairy that the market is not one of a temporary nature and there is no likelihood of the local dairy farmer being cut off from the market after he establishes himself in business.

It was pointed out that the milk companies buy milk on a quota basis and this quota is established in this milk shed from the first of October to the end of January. A new quota is established every year, which permits the dairy farmer to increase his production from one year to the other.

Milk produced by the farmer in the spring and summer months in excess of the base established in the preceding winter months is purchased by the milk companies but at surplus milk price. The reason for this, as explained by Mr. Palmer and Mr. Watson is that milk consumption is always higher in the fall and winter than in the spring and summer and production is always higher in the spring and summer than it is in the winter and fall. There is no interplay in which the laws of supply and demand more clearly work than in the milk business.

All-out effort is being made to supply these companies with the desired amount of milk from dairy farmers in this area. The opportunity that is before us can double the dollar income in the dairy business in the next 4 or 5 months if the needs of these milk companies are met.

Chinese Have 'Important' Subject to Air

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR

MUNSAN, U. S. — The Communists said late tonight they have "an important subject to discuss" when Red and Allied truce negotiators meet in a few hours in a full-dress crisis session that may determine the fate of an armistice.

This was the only hint of the reason behind the Red request for a meeting at 11 a. m. Saturday (8 p. m. Friday, CST) at Panmunjom.

There has been speculation the negotiators might approve final truce details or that the Reds may protest President Syngman Rhee's defiant release of about 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners.

The Red comment came in a Chinese language broadcast by the official Peiping Radio heard in Tokyo. It said Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, called the meeting because the Communists "have an important subject to discuss."

The Red radio earlier accused the U. S. and South Korea of collaborating to free the prisoners. The armistice draft appears ready for signature as soon as Chinese, English and Korean translations are approved.

Observers predicted Rhee's arbitrary action probably would not block signing of the truce, but they feared trouble later when the Allies must account for and hand over Red prisoners.

And there is the possibility Rhee could expand this first open revolt against the U. N., upsetting the whole agreement.

As the critical full-dress session approached, there were these other developments:

1. The Reds called off Friday's meeting of interpreters believed working on the armistice draft at Panmunjom.

2. The official Red Peiping radio accused Rhee of releasing the prisoners in order to impress them into the South Korean Army and added the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no measures to prevent the breakouts. It also said the sincerity of the U. S. is "indeed put to an acid test."

3. Communists army engineers abruptly stopped construction of a building at Panmunjom which some observers thought might be used for the truce signing ceremony. There was no explanation.

4. Allied troops continued preparations for prisoner exchange and for Allied officers who will serve on a joint Red Allied military commission after the armistice arrived in Munsan.

The actual prisoner agreement makes no mention of numbers but says all prisoners opposing return to their homeland will be turned over to a repatriation commission within 60 days.

AWOL Soldiers Love Vacation in Jail

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., U. S. — Two youthful sailors — both Korean veterans and both AWOL — are spending their unofficial vacation in the Rockwood jail — both loving it.

The Navy was never like this: Roane county has made them honorary citizens. They go swimming every day. They can't handle all the invitations to home-cooked meals. They went to Sunday school and church last Sunday.

"This is the best town we've ever been in," they agree.

It all started in San Diego, Calif. on June 1 when S1C Charles H. Robinson, 21, of Knoxville, Tenn., and F1C Roy Lee Austin, 19, of Wilson, Okla., got to talking at the San Diego Naval Base.

"I said to Roy 'Let's go to Tennessee,'" says Robinson.

"Don't say that unless you mean it," Austin replied, and as Robinson tells it, "We took off without a red cent or a cigarette."

They hitchhiked the 3,000 miles from San Diego to Knoxville in 55 hours, and stayed in Knoxville about 10 days, Robinson said.

On the way back, he added, "We ran out of money in Rockwood and decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

Hempstead in Pink Bollworm Emergency Area

LITTLE ROCK, U. S. — Gov. Cherry is expected today to authorize the State Plant Board to throw up barriers in Southwest Arkansas against the pink bollworm.

Cherry's executive secretary, Ken Francis, said the governor had ordered drafting of a proclamation calling for the action.

The Board requested the proclamation, putting an area within a 50-mile radius of Texarkana in a dangerous one. The Board also wants $25,000 from the governor's emergency fund to fight the cotton pest.

All or parts of Columbia, Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Nevada and Sevier counties are within the emergency area. The bollworm has been sighted in Texas, only a short distance from the Arkansas border.

Globemasters Grounded, Probe Called

By FRANK JORDAN

TOKYO (UP) — Far East Air Forces grounded all C-124 Globemasters today while officers investigated the worst airplane crash in history, a disaster that claimed 129 American lives.

FEAF said the investigators were sifting through the wreckage of the giant double-decked passenger transport in an effort to determine the cause of the crash near Tokyo yesterday.

Work crews found brown and stiff bodies, disjunctured like grotesque caricatures of humans, in pools of water, against a slope or doubled up beneath a jagged section of still-hot metal.

These American boys died 8,000 miles from Elizabeth, N. J., but this tragedy looked and felt the same as the three plane crashes that converted Elizabeth into a city of fear within four months in late 1951 and early 1952.

The bodies resembled those at Elizabeth, only there were more of them this time.

It was raining hard last night. The rain soaked the blankets covering the bodies, made the smoldering wreckage steam and bogged down ambulances.

They had called what happened at Elizabeth "aviation's worst disaster" because 119 persons died there in such a short time.

But more people died here last night in a much shorter time—they all died in just a few seconds.

Passengers on one of the planes that went down in flames at Elizabeth were on their way to Florida for sun tans. Some of the soldiers who died yesterday boarded their plane after having enjoyed a vacation in Tokyo.

Another of the Elizabeth planes plummeted to earth just a few minutes after takeoff. It was trying desperately to make it back to Newark airport.

The C-124 Globemaster went to a fiery death last night only two or three minutes from safety — the long runway at the airbase from which it had taken off.

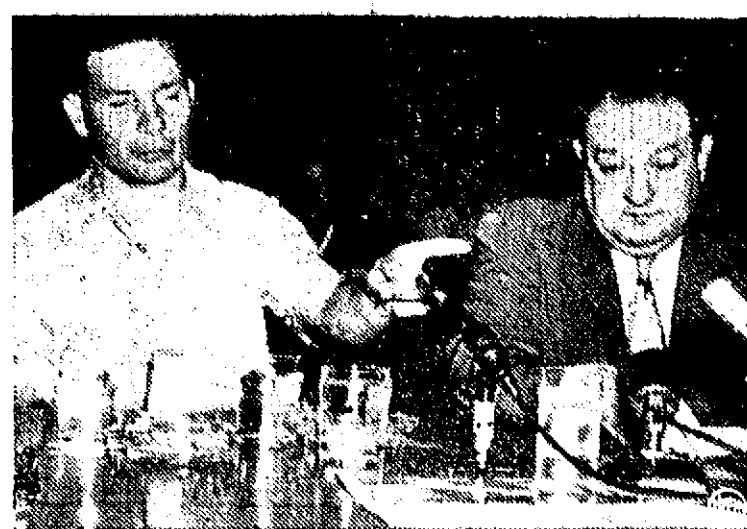

U. S. Airmen Destroy Six Enemy Planes

By MILO FARNETI
SEOUL, U. S. — U. S. Sabre jets destroyed six Communist MIGs and damaged three in air battles high over North Korea today.

On the ground, Communist infantrymen in company strength jabbed viciously at South Korean positions along the Central front, probing for weak spots where a major assault might break through. Chinese Reds snatched into several ROK-held hill positions along the East Central front where 30,000 to 40,000 Communists had rolled back Allied lines as much as two miles early this week in a pre-armistice drive toward the 38th parallel.

Five MIGs were destroyed in sky battles deep in Northwest Korea and one near Suho Dam on the Yalu River dividing North Korea and Communist Manchuria, the Air Force announced.

The island of Jamaica in the West Indies is about the size of Connecticut.

George Austin Has Chance to Be Freed

JEFFERSON CITY, U. S. — Ward on Ralph Eidson reported today George Austin, who returned to prison voluntarily to "get right with the Lord," has a good chance of winning his freedom.

Eidson, warden of Missouri Penitentiary, said the FBI reported no charges outstanding against Austin. The report will be turned over to the state Parole Board for action.

Austin escaped from a road gang near Kennett in 1918. Now 50, he walked into Eidson's office May 28 to give himself up and clear his conscience. He said life for the last 34 years has been "miserable, miserable."

Ike to Get Confidence Vote on Plan

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON, U. S. — Spokesmen for both parties predicted today President Eisenhower will win what amounts to a vote of confidence when the House ballots, probably this afternoon, on his new foreign aid program.

The $4,908,732,500 bill was debated for five hours yesterday and the way was open for an anticipated flood of amendments. Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.) said he hoped for a vote sometime today.

Rep. Hilleck of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, and Rep. Richards (D-SC) predicted in separate interviews that the bill would be approved without substantial cuts.

The President himself, in a moved with obvious cold war propaganda overtones, announced late yesterday the U. S. is granting an additional 50 million dollars in aid to West Berlin.

The announcement, which Eisenhower's statement said gave him a "particular satisfaction," came just a day after anti-Communist rioting in Soviet-held East Berlin. Thus it seemed timed to dramatize contrasting attitudes of the free and Communist worlds. The Reds had used troops to quell the East Berlin demonstrations.

Eisenhower said part of the money will be used to stockpile fuel, food and raw materials needed to bolster West Berlin's security.

The allocation was made out of foreign aid funds voted by Congress in past years.

The pending House bill merely sets a ceiling on overseas spending for the year beginning July 1, and a more significant test of the President's leadership may arise when actual appropriations are voted later.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) and three other Republicans planned to offer amendments to cut a total of one billion dollars from Continued on Page Two

Atom Spies Die Tonight; Court Reverses Douglas, Eisenhower Rejects Plea

Hard to Believe Summer Doesn't Start Until Sunday

By The Associated Press

The hottest weather of the spring season—summer doesn't start until Sunday—enveloped wide areas of the mid-continent and in the South again today.

Temperatures in the upper 90's and probably above 100 were in prospect for the sunbaked central part of the nation — duplicating Thursday's sizzling weather.

The hot and humid belt extended over the South and Texas northward into the Southern and Central Great Plains and up the Mississippi Valley to the area around Chicago and Minneapolis.

Record-breaking temperatures for the date were reported in many cities Thursday in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Texas. Highest readings included 108 at Topeka, Kas.; 106 at Brookfield, Mo.; 105 at Russell, Kas.; Omaha and Norfolk, Neb., and Sioux City, Ia., and 104 at Kansas City. It was 98 as far north as Minneapolis.

West Berlin Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter appealed for top level Allied meetings with the Russians to rescue the Soviet sector from the iron grip of Red army troops.

The United States, Britain and France have already demanded the Russians end their blockade of the Eastern sector. The Western powers condemned the execution yesterday of a jobless West Berlin truck driver by a Soviet firing squad as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the Western world."

Against a backdrop of frantic appeals by the puppet East German government for support from their people embittered by the years of dictatorial Red rule, there were these additional developments.

The Americans turned back to the Soviet sector Otto Nuschke, East German deputy premier who was kicked into the Western zone by rioters and held for two days.

Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the Protestant church for all Germany, appealed to Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semenov to listen to complaints of workers in the East. Their resentment against Communist pressure of more work without adequate pay was an immediate cause of Wednesday's rioting.

In West Berlin all flags were lowered to half staff for the victims of the rioting — numbering more than a score. A full day of mourning was planned for next Monday.

The American radio station RIAS advised the Soviet zone residents to avoid clashes with Soviet troops, saying violence would force the Russians to back up the Communist government in the long run.

One indication that the Russians planned no quick lifting of their martial rule was seen in the action restoring ration cards to 40,000 East Berliners who work in the West and now cannot pass through Red army lines. The cards had been cancelled six weeks ago.

Red Radio Berlin incessantly pumped out promises of reforms and appeals for the captive East Germans to support the government.

Reports filtering into the West said that the Russians had imposed martial law and the "rules Continued on Page Two

President Is Holding Rhee Responsible

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower has told President Syngman Rhee he is holding him personally responsible for the release of anti-Communist Korean war prisoners, congressmen were informed today.

Furthermore, it was said Mr. Eisenhower served notice on the aged and stubborn South Korea president and the United States and the United Nations expects South Korea to exert the utmost efforts to round up the 25,000 released prisoners.

This word was given by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to some members of the congressional foreign relations committees who met with Dulles for one hour and 45 minutes at the State Department.

The legislators heard Dulles make clear that the administration takes an extremely serious view of the effect of the prisoner release on a Korean war truce.

Dulles, it was said, was quite pessimistic regarding chances of capturing any sizable number of the prisoners.

The president was said to have informed Rhee that South Korea was acting as a United Nations trustee in guarding the prisoners and had violated a trust.

Dulles yesterday called the release a "violation" of Rhee's agreement.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg lost their fight for life in the Supreme Court today.

The nation's highest tribunal, 6 to 3, rejected the last appeal for clemency which was granted by Rosenberg Wednesday by Justice William O. Douglas.

The fateful ruling came with these words spoken by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson from the high bench:

"We think further proceedings are unwarranted."

He spoke for himself and five other justices. Two dissented and one wanted more time to consider the case.

This means that the condemned couple can be executed at any time in Sing Sing's electric chair — barring any further effective delaying maneuvers by the defense.

The U. S. marshal in New York, in charge of execution arrangements, tentatively set it for 11 p. m. (EST) tonight.

The Rosenbergs' one main hope was presidential clemency. But this was only a slim hope at best — unless the Rosenbergs change their minds and decide to talk for President Eisenhower who refused clemency on Feb. 11, indicated he would turn the Rosenbergs down again.

At Sing Sing prison, the Rosenbergs had just completed a 30-minute visit and were at lunch when word came over the prison radio that the court had doomed them.

Joining Vinson in turning down the Rosenbergs' were Justices Stanley F. Reed, Robert H. Jackson, Harold H. Burton, Tom C. Clark and Sherman Minton.

Douglas — the man who gave the Rosenbergs an extra 30 months of life — sharply dissented. Justice Hugo L. Black joined him in challenging the authority of the full court to set aside Douglas' stay of execution. Justice Felix Frankfurter wanted more time.

Miss Ruggles—Robert Spough
Say Vows by Candlelight
Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Lucille Ruggles, and Robert Eugene Spough in a candlelight ceremony held at 8 o'clock Friday, June 12, in the Glenn Memorial church at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan Ruggles of Hope, and parents of the bride-groom are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Spough of Atlanta, Ga.

The Reverend Paul R. Gaston of Fabens, Texas, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony. Dr. Chandler Budd, pastor of the church, assisted.

Myriad candles formed an arch before the red velvet backdrop and stately white columns. On each side of this central arrangement were branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. Large urns of white gladioli, double stock, and Easter lilies were placed on each side of the altar against a background of woodwardia trees.

As the guests assembled and were ushered to their seats by W. C. Winn, Dr. William Paulin, Jr., and Dr. Chester R. Fort, Jr., of Atlanta; and Richard Morris, of Arlington, Va., uncle of the bridegroom, Mrs. Bayne Smith, organist, of Atlanta, played a prelude of wedding music. She accompanied the soloist, Mrs. John D. Hoffman of Atlanta, who sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg; "Because" by D. Harlot; and as a benediction, "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used, and during the pledging of the vows, soft strains of "Liebes Traum" were played.

Clare de Lune was played softly as Jack Ruggles, brother of the bride, and Dickie Morris of Arlington, Va., cousin of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon tulle and imported Chantilly lace over satin. The gown was fashioned with molded bodice of lace featuring a sheer yoke of illusion outlined in petal design. Irresidescent sequins, tiny rhinestones, and pearls graced the bodice. The long tight sleeves ended in petal points over the hands.

The bouffant skirt, fashioned of billowing nylon tulle over net and satin had tucked paniers of tulle at the hipline. The skirt ended in a flowing train. The close fitting cap with scalloped edges, and dotted with iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls was attached to a four tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Joe Irvin of Lubbock, Tex.

as sister of the bride, and matron of honor, wore blush pink nylon net over rustling tulle. Nylon net fashioned the strapless bodice over which she wore a removable cape of net and lace. The fitted midriff and short front apron were of Venice type lace and velvet bows accented the waistline. She wore matching hat and lace mitts and carried a nosegay of rubrum lilies.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Truman Humphries of Shreveport, La., sister of the bride; Mrs. William D. Hamby of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. James L. Myers of Hope, and Mrs. Kenzie McKee of Houston, Texas. Miss Michele McLenore of Birmingham, Ala., was junior bridesmaid.

They wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor, with matching hats and lace mitts and carried nosegays of pink roses, and stock, centered with rubrum lilies.

Little Miss Peggy Lucille Humphries of Shreveport, La., niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was also identical to the other attendants. She carried a tiny white basket tied with white satin ribbon from which fell streamers tied in love knots, and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

William Lee Spough of Atlanta attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were: Billy Ruggles, Arkadelphia, brother of the bride; William D. Hamby, Ed Jernigan, and Judson Moses, all of Atlanta.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ruggles wore a gown of steel blue organdy tulle. Her corsage of fleur de meur was pinned at her shoulder, and long white gloves completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Spough wore a gown of delphinium blue net over tulle. White gloves completed her ensemble which was complimented with a corsage of fleur de meur.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church garden. They were received by the bride couple, their parents, the bride's grandmother, and feminine members of the wedding party.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with white hand embroidered organdy and lace. The three tiered wedding cake embossed with ice gardenias, rubrum lilies, and roses and topped with a white orchid, centered the table and on either side were branched silver candelabra burning tall white tapers.

The bride's aunts, Mrs. Nell Churchwell of Louisville, Ky., Miss Forrest Ruggles, and Mrs. Lovenia Sembach of Galesburg, Ill., assisted in serving the bride's cake. Punch was served from a long table covered with a hand embroidered organdy cloth with ice medallions over pink satin. A low bowl arrangement of white double stock, gladioli, baby breath, pink dahlias, rosebuds, and candytuft centered the table, with white tapers burning in candelabra on each side. Punch was served from an old English silver punch bowl owned

Letters to Soldiers

Dear Miss Dix: Several of my friends and I get a great deal of pleasure from corresponding with boys in service, even though we've never met them. We don't expect any big romances to spring from our writing. We do it because we love to write letters, are considering pretty good at it, and feel that we are cheering the boys who receive our mail. However, older members of our families claim it's a dangerous thing to do. They feel that we shouldn't write to boys unless we've been properly introduced and know all about them. Since we are all girls in our late teens and early twenties, we feel our judgment can be trusted.

Answer: This letter is typical of many I receive on the same subject, so its answer covers many other inquiries. In my opinion, if properly conducted, there is nothing wrong or dangerous in this type of correspondence. Of course it can lead to difficulties if unwisely handled, but so can almost any other situation in life. Boys in service appreciate, and even need, cheerful letters from home — a fact so well established that it needs no emphasis here. Perhaps if more mail went to them, there wouldn't be so many unhappy alliances with girls overseas.

Correspondence with unknown boys is definitely unwise when its only object is to promote a quick romance. That is why the project is not recommended for young teenagers. However, when a girl approaches 19 or 20, she should be sufficiently stable to direct the tenor of the mail in such a way that neither she nor the boy becomes emotionally involved. Since both writers want to know as much about each other as possible, it's simple to establish in the first letter or so such details of the boy's life as would be considered important. An exchange of snapshots is almost inevitable, and provides, at least, a mutual knowledge of looks. Background data should be similar, and form the basis for chatty letters.

Dear Miss Dix: A year ago my husband and I became friendly with another young couple in the neighborhood. The friendship progressed until now we see each other at least once a week. My husband and the young man have established a much firmer companionship than the wife and I have. I feel we should see less of the couple. My husband would like to spend more time with them. Am I making too much of a trifler?

ROSE G.

Answer: Perhaps you are making too much of the issue. Why not widen your circle of acquaintances with the hope of finding a more congenial companion for yourself, in which case you would be less likely to resent your husband's preoccupation with his pal? Going out as a foursome once a week certainly should not constitute a chore for you, especially since you admit a fondness for both young people. Your trouble is largely boredom with everything, including yourself. New friends and activities will do wonders for you.

Dear Miss Dix: My steady boy friend is attending a local college, and though he professes to love me, we see each other only on week ends, and he doesn't even call during the week. He says he just doesn't have a chance. Should I break off with him? E. R.

Answer: You need a little briefing on the demands of a college education. Since the boy is studying seriously and ardently, it is quite conceivable that he has little time for telephoning. If lack of attention makes you so angry, you'd be doing him a favor to break off the friendship, but you'd be pushing up a worthwhile boy. Would you prefer a nicecamp who had nothing to do but spend his time on the telephone?

There's only one answer...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Fleet operators, farmers, independent truckers—truck users everywhere—buy more Chevrolet than any other make. There can be only one reason for that: Chevrolet trucks offer more of what you want.

As the official registration figures keep rolling in, they keep telling the same positive story about truck popularity and truck value: Again in 1953, for the twelfth straight production year, truck buyers show a clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one reason—to do a job. So isn't it logical that since Chevrolet trucks outsell all others, they must do a better job at lower cost? That's why it will pay you to stop in and see us before you buy your next truck.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Cards, Bums Helping Braves to Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers are doing their level best to insure the 1953 National League pennant for the upstart Milwaukee Braves.

It's strictly unintentional of course, but nobody is happier than the transplanted Braves about the current state of affairs where the Cardinals and the home-loving Dodgers would be much better off if they just skinned St. Louis on their Western tours.

The two would be contenders have until nine times this spring. The Dodgers won the four played in Brooklyn and the Cardinals have just finished sweeping their second series of three games from Brooklyn in St. Louis.

Milwaukee, certainly not an out-slip to let such a golden opportunity slip by, has gotten three full games during Brooklyn's decline and fall in St. Louis. And because the Braves, who have been winning, the only aggressors the Cardinals have made towards first place in the half game they picked up yesterday when Milwaukee was rained out.

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers 12-4, in the winch of their series played with the thermometer pushed 100 degrees. The Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh, 8-4, last 36 games.

Lopez's victory was his eighth straight this season. During the roughest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a homer by Dick Gernert with two on base.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice, Sam White and Tom Umpflett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

Carrying Guns in Cars

By WARREN PAGE

Shooting Editor

Since this country is usually referred to as a nation on wheels, it might seem that the business of carrying weapons around in cars would be now as simple as opening a door. But there are a number of pitfalls in the car-gun business that can save shooters grief.

For example, you stick Old Ben, a total of 40 runs scored off Tiger pitching in two games. Chicago defeated Washington, 8-4, with six runs in the ninth inning.

Carl Erskine, who used to be able to beat the Cardinals just by tossing his glove on the mound, lasted only four innings and gave up six runs, three of them on a bases-loaded double by Stan Musial. The Braves' starting pitcher, who had failed to last, Harvey Haddix, picked up his eighth victory.

Frank Sauer, a home-run specialist last season, hit his first one since May 30 in the Cubs' third straight success over Pittsburgh. Left-handed Dave Koslo lasted long enough against Cincinnati to gain his first victory of the year, although he had to have help from Hoyt McDonald and Tom Gorman.

In the second game batted the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games.

Lopez's victory was his eighth straight this season. During the roughest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a homer by Dick Gernert with two on base.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice, Sam White and Tom Umpflett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

Records broke almost all modern records for single inning scoring by pushing across 17 runs in the seventh against Detroit. The Red Sox went on to win, 23-3, making

Rotary, VFW Teams Win in Little Loop

The VFW and Rotary teams came out on top last night in a couple of games in second play of the Little Big League.

The VFW edged the Hope Star boys 11 to 10 in a slam bang affair. Dale Zinn was credited with the win while Ray Ferguson was charged with the loss.

In the final affair it was 18 to 9 with the Rotary boys on top. The winners scored 11 runs in the 4th to sew it up. Darwin Smith was the winning hurler and the loss was charged to Henry Cox of the Citizens Bank Crew.

Tuesday night the Rotary and Star boys tie up while the Citizens Bank boys play the VFW.

Meanwhile, tonight the Legionnaires travel to Texarkana for a game with the Tomcats. Donz Stevens will be on the mound for Hope.

Christianity MUST Win! . . . CHRISTIANITY WILL WIN!

ust why is being a Father so akin to being a farmer?" "My son, you have to live with your job day and night if you make a good crop." How true! What a statement! This dad business is big business; so big you need a partner . . . God. Father's Day is pay day for Dad. Not in things they hand you in gift-wrapped boxes but in the pay that brings a lump to your throat and moisture to your eyes. Being a father is where men come nearest being like God. He may be tanned of face and rough of hand, but his big heart is very tender. Stamina, Dad, Fortitude; those are words for you. A good father is the world's biggest success.

36% Hike in Parcel Post Zone Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized a 36 per cent increase in parcel post zone rates.

The rate advance is to be applied on a date fixed by the Post Office Department. The increase is expected to add slightly more than 150 million dollars to charges for handling packages in the postal service.

Parcel post zone rates cover the vast bulk of the package mailing service used by the general public.

In addition to increasing these rates, the department has called for boost in handling charges of catalogs, similar printed advertising matter, and the "control circulation publications," which are handled as special category items in parcel post.

Federal law authorizes the ICC to effect changes in postal rates. Congress also may change the rates with legislation.

Nowland Not Wedded to Airforce Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he is "not wedded to the five billion dollar cut" in new Air Force funds recommended by the Eisenhower administration.

Knowland said in an interview that the suggestion from Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retiring air force chief of staff, for restoration of $1,435,000,000 to his service's budget "probably will carry considerable weight with the Appropriations Committee."

Knowland, acting TOP Senate leader in place of the ailing Sen. Taft, is a member of the Senate appropriations subcommittee which has heard wide disagreement expressed as to the effect of national security of the proposed cut-back.

He was the first administration lieutenant on Capitol Hill to indicate he may favor restoration of some of the money, ending credence to speculation that a compromise may be in the making.
